FUNDING YOUR EDUCATION

Figuring out how to fund your education can be scary BUT it doesn't have to be. It all begins by making wise decisions. How do you do this?

First, understand that your education is an investment. Like all investments, there will be some initial cost but it is well worth it. Your education is one of the few investments that you will reap benefits from for the rest of your life. At Alberta Bible College, we consider your time of studying and equipping a low cost /high return investment. What we mean by that is that we have intentionally kept our tuition one of the lowest in the country while still maintaining high quality Christian education. We understand the challenges that come with paying for your education and, through the generous financial assistance of our supporters, have done what we can to make both your education and ministry upon completion of your training affordable and accessible. In fact, it might surprise you to know that most students completing programs at Alberta Bible College do it with no, or little, actual debt.

As with any investment, you still must determine what you WANT to afford. While it may seem that a college education is out of your financial reach, you might be surprised at all the ways to bridge the gap between what you have and what you need.

Here are a few suggestions to help you out...

ADDITIONAL OPTIONS TO FINANCE YOUR EDUCATION

SUMMER WORK

Working even part-time during your high school years and the summer prior to attending college can be a huge help in financing your education. It has been said that “it’s not how much you make, it’s how much you SAVE” in your time of working that makes the difference. While there are always fun things to spend your money on, you must decide what your priorities are and spend — or save— your money accordingly.

LOCAL EMPLOYMENT

Many of our students work part-time throughout their time of study to help pay for their education and living expenses. Calgary’s economy has numerous jobs available for students in the city. In addition, public transportation, including a bus stop on one of Calgary’s major bus routes just outside of the building, provides access to a wide variety of opportunities for student employment beyond the immediate area of the college. Classes are held Tuesday through Friday. It allows most full-time students to accept part-time employment for Mondays, Saturdays, and most afternoons. The following guideline is designed to help you balance work commitments and academic load.

If your weekly academic load is:	Your weekly outside work load may be:
15–17 hours	14 hours or less
12–14 hours	14–20 hours
10–12 hours	20–30 hours
6–10 hours	30 hours or more

FAMILY CONTRIBUTION

It is important to note that the Canadian government expects that families will contribute to their children’s education. In the eyes of the government, students are considered dependent on their families until they have been out of high school for four years, are married, or have spent significant time in the workforce full-time. This is important to consider when planning your finances, especially if you are considering student loans. Know that your family’s income will be considered in your loan application if you are still considered a dependent.

STUDENT LOANS AND GRANTS

Alberta Bible College is recognized as an eligible institution for student loans. Other provincial governments acknowledge Alberta Bible College as a qualified institution under the Canada Student Loans Plan. You apply each year you are studying by filling out an application in your home province. These loan programs are intended to supplement the financial resources of the students and their families. Approval for financial assistance is not guaranteed.

Note: These loans must be paid back.

Alberta student loans (<http://studentaid.alberta.ca/>)

“There is no interest on your loans for the first six months from your last date of study. This is called your “grace period”. At the end of your six month grace period, interest will begin to accumulate on your Alberta student loan and you will be expected to make your first payment” (<http://studentaid.alberta.ca/repaying-your-loan/interest-rates/>).

Canada student loans (<http://studentaid.alberta.ca/>)

“Interest on your Canada student loan starts accumulating immediately after you stop studying full-time. You will not be required to make any payments until six months from your last date of study” (<http://studentaid.alberta.ca/repaying-your-loan/interest-rates/>)

Some key features of government student loans are:

- These loans are interest free while you are in school, but interest starts to accrue when you are done school.
- Repayment of your loans starts six months after you complete your studies or drop below a 60% full course load.
- Depending on your situation, you may be eligible for interest relief and/or debt reduction assistance after you have completed your studies

For more information on Federal student loans, check out www.canlearn.ca

Are you eligible for a Canadian government student loan?

Students enrolled in at least nine (9) credit hours per semester and who are Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada are eligible to apply for a Federal loan.

Some tips for applying:

- All applications require at least 4-6 weeks to process. Make sure you apply early!
- If you use the on-line system for any information, be sure to make note of important information such as usernames and passwords.
- Students from other provinces must apply to the province in which they reside.
- When contacting your province's student aid office, be sure to ask for information about any other awards, bursaries, etc. that may be granted for post-secondary education.
- Be specific in naming the program in which you are enrolled (i.e. Certificate in Christian Foundations, rather than The Rock; Bachelor of Theology or Religious Education rather than counselling, youth ministry, etc.) so that it will be recognized as an official program.
- Codes are required for loan applications. The codes for Alberta Bible College are as follows:
 - BPBT (2295) Alberta Institution Code
 - 536 Alberta Program Code for Alberta Bible College Degree Programs
